

A Customer example: All the Ana Advantages

Our friends run one of the largest DVD-making facilities in North America. They make thousands of them at a time.

They run an application that downloads the HD Video data from a server located in Los Angeles, CA. They had a 10Mbps Symmetrical Fiber connection that, despite the SLA, experienced periodic outages – outages that would cost our customer thousands of dollars in lost inventory.

They called a fixed-wireless reseller for a second connection, giving them carrier diversity. Downtime was reduced, but not eliminated. They still lost inventory in the manual change-over and change-back.

We aggregated their e10, their fixed wireless and added a DSL for extra redundancy and bandwidth.

The Results:

Network Speeds: 22Mbps x 16Mbps

No lost transactions and no lost inventory from network outages since October of 2008.
